Armey Men's Soccer is one of the longest-running college soccer traditions. West Point's Clinton Field has been the site of Army soccer matches since 1921, when a cadet squad beat Dartmouth, 4-3, in Army's first-ever intercollegiate match. A member of the Patriot League and NCAA Division 1, Army teams reached the Final Four of the NCAA tournament in 1963, 1964, 1965 and 1966. With Head Coach Russell Payne headlining a new coaching staff, the team is focused on honoring Army's soccer tradition by quickly re-establishing West Point Men's Soccer as a consistent Patriot League and NCAA contender.
